Employee of the Month

Sara Poe Shows Attention to Detail at CPRB

Sara Poe, an Accounting Technician III with the Consolidated Public Retirement Board (CPRB), has been selected as the Department of Administration's Employee of the Month for November.

A state government employee for more than eight years, Poe's primary duties involve verifying service records for all prospective Public Employees Retirement System retirees, calculating reinstatement payments, depositing checks, balancing and keying payrolls, and determining adjustments and delinquency fees.

"Sara has proven herself to be an extremely valuable and dependable employee who is very detail-oriented and who cares a great deal about the work she produces," according to one of her co-workers. "Even more so, she cares about the customers she assists and always goes above and beyond to ensure her customers are tended to."

Another co-worker of Sara's commented, "Sara is dependable, honest, hardworking and conscientious."

In her spare time, Sara is active in church activities and enjoys spending time with her family. She will be joined by friends and co-workers at a special ceremony presented by Acting Cabinet Secretary Jason Pizatella on Monday, November 3, at 11 a.m. at the CPRB office in Kanawha City.

New Cabinet Secretary Jason Pizatella Brings a Familiar, Yet Unique Perspective to Department of Administration

When Jason Pizatella was appointed by Gov. Earl Ray Tomblin on October 1, 2014, as the acting cabinet secretary for the Department of Administration, he came to the job with a solid understanding of the programs and services offered by our divisions and agencies. Secretary Pizatella was serving as Gov. Tomblin's Deputy Chief of Staff and liaison to the State Legislature.

"Without the Department of Administration, simply put, state government could not operate," Secretary Pizatella said at his first meeting with his division directors. He emphasized the importance of the role we play in providing services to all state government, including providing health insurance to our employees, purchasing products and services, insuring our state property, maintaining our state buildings...the list goes on. "The key to our department is keeping state operations flowing," he added.

Despite that most of the department's customers are within state and local governments, Secretary Pizatella stressed that our employees' hard work and commitment to efficiency are realized by all state taxpayers. "I've often said that the Department of Administration is like a fourth branch of government, the operations branch. Our agencies provide the commodities and the services that allow government agencies, both state and non-state, to function effectively and efficiently," he said. "However, we also interact with the

Keeping Information Secure Focus of Cyber Security Event

Alerts about data leaks – ranging from credit card information from retailers to personal photos from online storage – are increasingly common in the daily news, and keeping that information secure was again the focus of this year's Information Security Conference, offered on Oct. 15 at the Culture Center and sponsored by the Office of Technology's (WVOT) Office of Information Security and Controls.

WVOT Chief Technology Officer Gale Given said the increased rash of data breaches indicate the importance of good cyber security practices. "The past twelve months, perhaps more than any other time, has brought the issue of cyber security front and center to the typical consumer," she said. She said that there are four types of security breaches:

- The ones that are prevented – the vast majority, and the ones you never hear about;
- The ones that are detected and stopped before they become serious – another group you never hear about;
- The ones that wreak havoc – a small percentage when

Phase D of wvOASIS Delayed for Additional Testing of Applications

Based on a recommendation from the Project Management Office of the Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) Board, the deployment of Phase D of the wvOASIS system has been delayed to provide additional testing of the new Payroll and Human Resources Management applications. Phase D includes human resources, payroll, time and leave management travel and federal reciprocity.

The ERP Board had previously established measures of progress that needed to be met by September 30 in order to move to the stage of preparing to train state employees for January 1, 2015, according to an e-mail communication to change leadership team members and agency liaisons from Lisa Comer, State Leader for the wvOASIS Enterprise Readiness Team over communications, training and change management. Because those measures were not met to transition to train the end users, the deployment date has been delayed to an undetermined time. Additional details will be forthcoming.

A revised plan is being established by the Project Management Office to re-set tasks and timeframes that will be presented to the ERP Board at a future meeting. Currently, however, please note the following activities:

- User acceptance testing continues on HRM, Payroll, Time and Leave;
- HRM Staging Environment training to proceed as planned;
- Additional training opportunities will be announced soon; and
- User acceptance training schedule for travel and federal reciprocity will be announced later;

Revised Emergency Situations and Inclement Weather Policy Approved by the State Personnel Board

The State Personnel Board approved the revised Emergency Situations and Inclement Weather Policy at its October 21, 2014, meeting in order to provide continuity of government operations during emergency situations. These situations may include inclement weather conditions.

According to Joe Thomas, Assistant Director over the Division of Personnel's Employee Relations Section, who presented the revised policy to the Board for review, the new policy was restructured so that state employees may better understand the requirements relating to reporting to work in those emergency situations. Prior to presenting to the Board, the Division of Personnel solicited input from human resource coordinators in other state agencies.

To review this policy, please visit the Division of Personnel's website at www.personnel.wv.gov and click on the "Policies and Interpretive Bulletins" link.

Work Nears Completion on Veterans Memorial

Work is nearly completed on repairs to the Veterans Memorial on the Capitol Campus. General Services Division Deputy Director William Barry said the project has been underway since March and should be finished this month. Barry added that among the repairs to the Memorial are repairing and replacing marble, repairing the pool surrounding the monument, and fixing the lighting system.

PEIA Hits the Road to Discuss Upcoming Proposed Plan

The Public Employees Insurance Agency (PEIA) Finance Board members and PEIA staff will be traveling throughout West Virginia during this month to reach out to its active and retired employee members to explain the proposed plan for fiscal year 2016, which will become effective on July 1, 2015. In addition to the proposed plan, PEIA staff plans to use this opportunity to showcase some other programs and enhancements which are forthcoming.

Because of a $40 million deficit in PEIA's budget for the next fiscal year, a list of possible benefit revisions have been established for active employees, non-state members, and pre-65 and Medicare retirees. These revisions include increases to family out-of-pocket maximums, deductibles and copayments.

Other possible benefit changes relate to emergency room and urgent care visits. PEIA understands that members would prefer no changes; however, we hope to receive feedback at the public hearings as to which recommended medical benefit change would be most acceptable, according to PEIA Executive Director Ted Cheatham.

At the public hearings, members will have an opportunity to provide their feedback on which benefit revision they would prefer. A checklist of all recommended proposed changes with the potential savings will be available for active members and pre-65 retirees as well as for Medicare retirees.

In addition, a checklist of proposed changes to the prescription drug plan with potential savings will be available for member input. On each checklist, a recommended total savings needed is noted. For a complete listing of proposed changes to benefits that will be presented at the public hearings, visit peia.wv.gov.

At a recent PEIA Finance Board meeting, Cheatham said the upcoming public hearings will also encourage its members to become more involved in their health well-being. He applauded the efforts of PEIA's Wellness Director Nidia Henderson, who was been working in collaboration with Marshall University on a variety of new programs that are being offered.

Based on a survey response of 18,000 members, PEIA learned more about priorities of its members. Some of these priorities included more access to affordable fruits and vegetables, fitness services, stress management and technological tools.

In response, Cheatham said his agency is working with agency wellness coordinators in launching farmers markets at various worksites; creating a fitness discount program; offering stress management classes through Marshall University and WVU Extension Service; providing fitness classes at worksites; providing lifestyle coaching; and will be launching the "My Pathways to Wellness" site after the first of the year.

"We want our members to feel involved and accountable in their healthy lifestyle choices," said Cheatham. As a result, part of the PEIA Public Hearings will focus on the Healthcare Bluebook, which is a transparency tool for cost comparison of many common procedures that PEIA's members have performed, including colonoscopy, hernia repair, and hysterectomy.

This tool provides reference-based pricing to members looking at quality and pricing data. "There are 34 recommended procedures that we are focusing on using this tool," he said. "It is an incentive for patients to choose wisely."

A new program to encourage healthy lifestyles, "Healthy Tomorrows," is part of the proposed plan for the upcoming fiscal year.

"This is a three-year program to help our active members take charge of their life. During the first year, active members are to name a primary care physician. The members must report the blood pressure, glucose, cholesterol and waist circumference screening was taken the second year. And, the third year, members must report the values of those screening," Cheatham said.

In order to qualify, the member must meet by the third year the recommended values of <140/90 for blood pressure, <125 glucose; <245 cholesterol; with no values required for waist circumference.

A physician statement that one of more of these measures cannot be met will waive the requirement for that specific measure. Those active members not meeting those values without a physician statement will have an additional $500 annual deductible.

Also on the agenda for discussion at this month's public hearings are a new Mountaineer Flexible Benefits dental option for cleanings only. The Mountaineer Flexible Benefits are a voluntary menu of optional insurance programs which are available to PEIA members.

The PEIA public hearing schedule is listed on its website, with the Charleston hearing located at the Little Theater at the Charleston Civic Center on Thursday, November 20, 2014. Registration begins at 5 p.m., with the hearing offered from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

public in ways that if we are doing our jobs well, the taxpayers have greater confidence in their government."

He expressed his interest in showcasing the good things that our department and our employees do. "If things are running smoothly, I want to know about it... not just when a problem may arise. Every day, there are many wonderful examples of what we are doing right," he said.

One of our department's greatest attributes are our employees, Secretary Pizatella said. "I always knew but now have learned first-hand since becoming cabinet secretary, the Department of Administration has some of the most dedicated employees in state government," he said. One of first things that he had scheduled was a visit to each division to learn more about the work they do and to talk with the employees. "In doing so, I developed a more in-depth view of the things that we are doing well and the things we can be doing better, according to the employees throughout the agencies. I'll be following up on some of the suggestions received during these visits and will be making periodic visits to track our progress."

Within state government, Secretary Pizatella previously served as Acting Cabinet Secretary of the Department of Revenue, Deputy Commissioner of the State Tax Division, and counsel to the State Senate Committee on Government Organization and Committee on Finance. He continues to represent the Governor as his designee and Chairman of the Parkways Authority, Water Development Authority and the Infrastructure and Jobs Development Council.

"I'm honored that the Governor has the confidence in me to take on the role of Cabinet Secretary for the Department of Administration," he said. "Having been Deputy Chief of Staff and also working with the State Legislature, I think I bring a unique perspective to this job that I hope will serve the Department, its employees, and its customers well."

Prior to state government, he practiced law in the private sector. A native of Fairmont, West Virginia, Secretary Pizatella is a 2007 graduate of the West Virginia University College of Law and a 2004 graduate of the West Virginia University Eberly College of Arts and Sciences.
